CITY IMPROVEMENTS. The Gas Company's Extension.

It is known to most of the residents in the lower part of this city, that for some months past the gas company have been constantly at work building a new and very large holder in the West End, and in extending the advantages of gas to the town of Portland: and no one improvement will give so good an idea as this, of the great and rapid growth of the city. The sul urb of Portland might have been supplied directly from the works at Jackson and Washington streets, but to have done so would have required such a pressure as would have increased, to an outrageens Sgure, the bills of consumers within a radius of a mile from the works an ! as this was not to be thought of, the company concluded to buy ground build a holder. This they have done, and the new work is now complate. A lot some three acres in extent was purchased in the upper end of the old Portland boundaries, corner of High and Railroad Company, and, at the same time, Tenth cross etreets next block east of the United States Marine Hospital, and exfineluding Portland has been discharged to Portland avenue. On this lot the new will be from about Twelfth street, in the city, down to Portland, and from High street on the north to Broadway on the south, having a capacity to supply public and domestic lights to a population of for y thou and. THE HORNET.

Washington, October 6 .- It was generally believed yesterday that the Admini tration was lacking in enough of official data to hold the Cuban privateer beyond a prellmnary investigation; but to-day an examina tion of the various reports made to the Gov erument from the time this vessel was detalned at Philadelphia in August last to the present date shows that there is abundant testi-United States a naval base, and therefore comes clearly within the scope of the act of 1818. Besides this, the fourteenth was in favor of repudiation. pels the United States to detain any privateer commanded by American citizens, and in tended for depredation on Spanish commerce. Her officers are mostly Americans. The Spanish Minister has also addressed this Govcrimient a sort of protest against the Hornet l cia allowed to go to sea, which complicates the case against the Cabans not a little. The Senatorial Fight-Johnson and Etheridge Marshaling their Hosts-A. J. in the Lead-The Finances, etc. Nashville, Oct. 6.—The tight for the Sen lorship is more exciting than ever. John on has his hendquarters at the Maxwell House, the two finest rooms in the establish ment—the bridal chambers—being appro-priated to his use. He electioneers with as much vim and vigor as he ever did in his palmiest days. After legislative hours members begin to drop in, and in the evening it is not uncommon to see a score of Senators and Representatives seated round a long table while the ex-President, with animation and carnestness, lays down the law and defends Etheridge holds forth at the City Hotel. He excits remarkable conversational and persuasive powers, albeit he is often very indiscreet in his utterances. His slurs about East Tennessee have lost him votes from that cetion. Johnson is certainly the more wily and politic of the two. Each has hosts of zealens friends who are working as if the fate of the Re; uhlie depended on the result.

Each member of the Legislature had placed on his desk to-day a package containing Johnson's messages to Congress, including his principal vetces. It is nardly probable that this appeal to ancient history will make any votes one way or the other. Viewing the who'e matter from an impartiat stand point, it may be stated that Andy is still in the lead and is likely to ictain his advantage.

The organization of both houses was completed to-day. The Governor did not send his message, and is not likely to do so before Friday, as it is not yet completed. It is known that he will recommend the adoption of the fifteenth amendment, which recommen-

Third Day at Woodlawn--Comunued Success of the Meeting.

More Good Rasing-The Two Nile Reats Won by Charlie Walker and the Dash by Sue Morrassey.

The prospect of interesting races and the charmingly anspicious weather drew another large and respectable crowd to Woodlawn yesterday. Rearly all the trades and professions werepresented in the "spectatorial" multitude. is safe to eav that none of them were disappoint ed in their expectations of secing No. 1 sto fine sport. Even the preaches, one was led to believe, might have taken a reserved seat-inthe ladies' stand, for example-and watched the forms and performances of the noble horse without in the least shocking his the preacher's sense of plety. He would, as all events, have found material for a new and instructive sermon. But we can't insist upon the reverend fraternity going to the races. An terlar to the call of the horses the concourse em-ployed the time in divers way. Many invested in pools. Some orally dwelt upon the merits of the racers and the probable results. Others, knowing little of horse flesh or the caprices of the turf, busied their min is about different mat-ter-, and complacently awaited the fun to which they were strangers. All on the grounds gave n'ans to the poor blind woman who grinds an orfaithful wife. These acts of charity fully ator for the so-called improprieties of the race-course Glying to the poor is lending to the Lord. Under uch a combination of pleasing incidents the enin ment of everyone was complete. THE FIRST RACE.

The first race.

This was for the railroad purse of $500, two-mile heats for all ages. It was contested by the bay coit Charl-y Walker, the bay mare Woodford Belle and the bay norse Robert Lee. The coit, charley's was the decided favoilte. In the first pools he brought $40 to $10 for the field, and the dist rangle d until the else of the first heat. Some pools were sold omitting Charley. In these cases Woodford Belle was the first choles, but the bids were overly clean. The almost unanimous preference for Charley rendered the pools. Iling sublimely duil. Int did not after the many who had assembled tow times the races, free-from the denois and fears incident to be thing. The track was admirably ordered and even thing else ungared spirited trials of speed, wind and bettein.

First Heat.—The three mays were quickly stilpped and halt to the secratch. On the third raist they got away. Lee in the advance, holly phasued by the Bede, and the favortle pulling each. Contrary to general supposition the first mile sink a charger was run to be, order the the stretch, coming to the status a length or more alread of the Belle, and winning the heat la 342%. Lee saved his distance handsomely.

Second Reat,—Whiker stock ascended. He sold for $10 to $12 for the field. The friends of the Belle thought she might at last outwit the canning Charley, and she sold for $25 to $5 for Lee, it could be seen, however, that there was something howe that abstract notions in the popularity of Charley. The mags were fresh-looking on their reapperance. They started without nouble, ine Belle helding the inside and front, with Lee next, Charley e, ea log his former trick of husbanding his spect to the finale. At the quarter poet Lee ran abraid of the Belle, and so thy contained midely altiggy to the home-post, reaching it in 15-9e. In the flight to the quarter again, the Bette deplaced Lee, and Lette be front as far as the halt-mills, when Lee resound the lead and guided the party around the grove and on the quarter furn. Here, as before, Charley made a brush that sent in in the vant. This crete was malarated to the outcome, Charley stilling home winner of the heat and race by three lengths in

I notice your editorial commenting up on one from a Savanuah paper. Lest there should be any misunderstanding, permit me to say that the convention of the 12th of October is a National assem-blage, to be presided over by Millard Fill-tore, certainly a National man.

The delegates from Maine will be placed upon the same footing as those from Tex-In no sense whatever is there anything sectional.

the Memphis convention the term "Southern" was doubtless used to design nate the object; a restoration of Southern prosperity by a consideration of Southern questions. In the minds of some it may have been intended to summon a convo-cation of delegates whose resolutions night show the wants of their section. But deeming a broader and wiser con-struction of my duties as chairman of the committee the true one, I assumed the responsibility of exerting every effort to make it a grand National Peace Convention. The gentlemen who, by hundreds announce their intention of participating therein, view the objects exactly in that light. In 1860, while making Union speeches. I portrayed the scenes which my judgment indicated as the result of heated political excitement, and I candid-ly avowed my purpose of sharing the for-tunes of my brethren South if your earnest prove unavailing to avert the war which so few believed would come. And I predicted then, that after years of useless strife and dreadful bloodshed, we would finally unite in zealous efforts to coment the shat-tered fragments of the Union. And today I am only consistent in associating with tens of thou ands (who supported the lost cause" with fidelity) who now, with qual honor, attempt to restore good feeling and create lasting peace.
Yours truly.
